

HAVEP

You'll never work alone

SUSTAINABILITY IS NOT ABOUT DREAMING BUT DOING

Collection and recycling of used clothing

‘You don’t wait around for a sustainable future to happen.
You make it happen!’

For HAVEP, sustainable clothing is not an end-point but a beginning.

Sustainability colours our entire outlook. We help you achieve your sustainability objectives with concrete and realistic solutions. For example, by collecting and giving a second life to your used textiles, by offering you a wide range of sustainable fabrics to choose from and through our repairs service, extending the lifecycle of your existing work clothing. Because sustainability is about caring for the future – and that future begins now, with all of us.

Read all about it in this brochure or take a look at www.havep.com/sustainability for more possibilities.

HAVEP as a pioneer of the closed-loop model

HAVEP sees many opportunities for reusing textile fibres. Our HAVEP® REWORK line has been certified Cradle to Cradle® since 2013. This was the spark for the development of a closed-loop model in which used work clothing is converted into new products. The process integrates the collection and sorting of old clothing and textiles, fibre extraction and of the production of new, high-quality work and safety clothing.

In addition, we also collect off-cuts from our own production processes with a view to reintegrating them in the supply chain. At HAVEP, we do everything we can to close the loop.

Collection and recycling of work clothing

Is your company heading down the path towards a greener future? HAVEP can help you get there faster. By collecting your used work clothing and giving it a second life.

How? By setting up a collection container at your premises where your employees and customers can deposit their own used work clothing. Once the container is full, we will come and collect it. And if you already have a collection container, we can also come and collect and return it for you. As a pioneer in the industry, HAVEP also practices what it preaches: we also collect and reuse old work clothing at our own workshop, converting it into quality materials approved for production.

HAVEP offers many opportunities to boost your sustainable image. For example, by turning your recycled textiles into insulation material, carpets or bags. In addition to the option of developing an entirely new clothing line via an innovative technique using eco-friendly wood fibres.

Achieving more together

Working towards a sustainable future is no solitary task.
Working together with HAVEP therefore means:

Collection and recycling of used clothing.

Tailored advice for making your current clothing package more sustainable.

A wide variety of high-quality, sustainably produced textiles.

Reinforcement for your sustainable corporate image by recycling your used textile into bags, carpets, etc.

Work clothing with a longer lifecycle thanks to our repairs service.

On and offline support for your sustainability campaign.

Transparency in the entire production process.

Innovative, eco-friendly techniques.

HAVEP says, “No!” to child labour

Our goal is not just to produce sustainable work clothing. At the same time, we strive to make our entire company sustainable – with respect for both the planet and the people who inhabit it. That means that our customers can rest easy in the knowledge that our products are made under good and fair working conditions without the use of child labour.

HAVEP believes in collaboration with a view to solving textile-related problems together, while also investing in such projects and organisations as Modint, Fair Wear Foundation, and Remo. HAVEP is also one of the first manufacturer of work wear to sign the new Sustainable Clothing and Textiles Charter.
